

Own the web experience wherever customers engage your brand

Give every franchisee, dealer and agent a branded website they manage locally, while you keep templates, governance and security consistent.

Supporting a partner network at scale comes with challenges:

Inconsistent customer experiences

Partners hire agencies, use different builders or rebuild content on their own, so customers see a different brand at every location.

Limited network visibility

You own the brand but have little view into how partners represent it online or which sites have gone stale.

Support that doesn't scale

Every new partner adds website requests to your team's queue, while partners just want to market locally without technical help.

Every partner website represents both the local business and your brand.

Control for you, flexibility for every partner

Set the foundation once, from templates and brand kits to permissions, and partners launch and manage their own local content on top of it.

Roll out sites at scale

Launch fully branded partner sites from approved templates instead of starting from scratch, so new partners go live faster.

Network-wide updates

Multisite networks push design, structure and code updates from one master template to every connected site, while each partner keeps its local content.

Local autonomy within guardrails

Partners manage their own content, promotions, events and bookings without code, inside the templates and permissions you set.

Shared content and brand

Shared CMS collections and brand kits keep product catalogs, partner lists, colors and typography current on every partner site.

Network visibility

Track activity and performance across the network from one dashboard, and manage domains, templates and media in one place.

Dedicated support and success

Qualifying accounts get a named Customer Success Manager plus 24/7 priority access to solution engineers. Escalations go to senior agents, response times are faster, and your CSM stays in the loop. Specific SLAs are defined in your contract.

How teams like yours use it

“Wix Enterprise has reduced our production time by more than half. What used to take two months now takes about three weeks.”
